Description

Reporting Date: January 7, 2015

Target Audience: Spring 2015 New Students Orientation Participants

Purpose:

New Student Orientation is a period of time at the beginning of each semester to orientate and welcome new students to Diné College. All 6 campuses individually host New Student Orientations at the beginning of the Spring semester.

Because Diné College's effectiveness in preparing students for their first semester of college, Student Services provides important information about academic policies and procedures, registration options, college services, and student activities.

The one day New Student Orientation program helps students enjoy campus life and make a more informed transition into Diné College through service introduction and staff meet-and-greet.

Comments:

I am Still Concerned about receiving my books on time when I have been unable to order books through my financial aid award.

Patrick Sandoval is very Knowledgeable and it seems he is very invested in a student's success. I feel very confident in my academic career with him in control of the Eastern campus.
